Daily Quote...

"Republicans blocking a bill to fight terrorism that's backed by a Republican commander in chief? This outlandish obstructionism makes some people wonder whether the president is truly committed to the reform package... In the best of cases, these critical changes will be put off for six months or more. But it's quite likely that this complex legislation will get bogged down in extraneous issues or sidetracked by domestic policy. Enough of playing politics with our safety."
